Enrolment jumps again crowding schools

With classroom space at a premium at the elementary schools in Minden and Haliburton, enrolment has again jumped by more than 10 per cent this year, squeezing the facilities to the limit.

Education Director Stuart Baker says the schools are able to accommodate all the students, "but we're using space that we'd rather not have to use for classrooms." By this he means that specialty rooms, like the family studies room, are being used to house conventional classes.

By placing students in these rooms, the board is able to keep the class sizes to about 30 students. While this provides a viable short-term solution to the crowding, Baker says it's not good in the long-run.

"These rooms were not necessarily designed for classes," said Baker.

Across the school board, the increase in students in the elementary panel is 10.6 per cent this year. When the secondary panel is rolled in, the overall increase in enrolment in Haliburton County is eight per cent.

According to principal McKay Brydon, the enrolment at Archie Stouffer Elementary School is about 560 students (counting each kindergarten student as one half student since they attend only half time). This is an increase of 40 full-time students over last year. Most of the new students are entering kindergarten, bringing the enrolment for that grade up to about 80.

Inquest is sought into boating death

An inquest will be sought into the circumstances surrounding the Sept. 16 boating death of Mark Christopher Gort.

The 17-year-old Toronto youth is believed to have died of hypothermia after spending more than four hours in the cool waters of Gull Lake when his canoe capsized at about 3:30 a.m.

Gort and two companions went out for a late-night paddle from the family cottage on Gull Lake when the canoe overturned. The two companions swam to shore, while Gort stayed with the overturned canoe.

In a telephone conversation last week, the youth's father said the family is concerned about how long it took the the Minden OPP to respond. He said they are hoping to convince the coroner of the need for an inquest.

"My son is a very normal teenager," he said. "Teenagers do things that are not so smart and we always hope they will survive. He got in a canoe in the dark and it tipped. Two went for shore and made it, barely. My son decided to stay with the canoe."

The two who swam to shore broke into a cottage and called the police at 4:10 a.m. The OPP didn't arrive at the scene with a boat until about 7 a.m., Mr. Gort said. And when they arrived, they refused to go out into the thick fog, he said.

"We have a lot of anger and questions," said Mr. Gort. "The OPP part puzzles us deeply. I hope the inquest will answer some questions," he said. "They may have good reasons, we don't know."

OPP Sergeant Steve Adam said he feels Constables Dunham and Hambleton acted correctly throughout the investigation. Because this matter may result in a complaint against the detachment, he said he didn't want to comment in detail.

Adam said the initial call was received at 4:10 a.m. and the only description they had of the location of the two youths who placed the call was a telephone number. After swimming to shore, the two youths didn't know where they were, said Adam.

Although police wouldn't go out onto the foggy lake, neighbours of the Gorts' did. They found the youth floating in the water and brought him to shore just as the police were launching their boat at about 9 a.m., said Gort.

According to the police report, Gort was found at about 8:45 a.m. Efforts were made to revive him using CPR, he was taken to Minden Hospital and on to Ross Memorial Hospital where he was pronounced dead.

The funeral was held last Tuesday in Toronto. "It's a time for us to sort out our grief—a time to think we won't ever see our son again."

Mr. Gort said the family is in full agreement about asking for an inquest. An inquest will be conducted if it is recommended by the local or regional coroner.

"It will never bring him back," said Mr. Gort, but an inquest may answer some questions and prevent this from happening to someone else.

Lobby effort gets strong County support

'It's been a mess and I don't know what's going to happen if it doesn't go ahead.'

The bid to lobby the provincial government for the promised funding to build an 18-bed addition to the Haliburton Hospital received strong support from both Lutterworth Council and Haliburton County Council last week.

A full-page advertisement has been placed by Stanhope Reeve Harry Davis in the two local newspapers in an effort to convince the province to make good on its promise to fund the chronic care expansion. The ad, which appears in today's edition of The Times, is a lengthy resolution detailing the history of the proposed expansion. Residents are urged to clip it, sign it and mail it off to their MPP.

Lutterworth Council fully endorsed this initiative at their meeting last Thursday. Councillor Maurice Boyd, who introduced the resolution Thursday said it's important that as many people as possible participate in the effort.

"It's been a mess and I don't know what's going to happen if it doesn't go ahead," Boyd said of the expansion project. He said a lot of organizations and individuals have made financial contributions specifically for the addition. If, as the Ministry of Health has indicated, the expansion does not go ahead it will be impossible to return that money, he said.

Boyd also suggested that Lutterworth place a second ad in the papers urging people to take the time to mail off the other ad. Council, however, agreed this would be redundant and dropped the idea.

The reaction at county council Wednesday was similar. The council lent support to Davis' initiative and took it a step further by demanding a meeting with Health Minister Elinor Caplan and Premier David Peterson.

Fearry said a meeting with the minister was requested in mid July. He said the county hasn't even had a response to that request.

Caplan did meet recently with members of the hospital board and other concerned parties, but not with County Council.

"We don't intend to let it drop," Fearry said. "We haven't had a satisfactory explanation as to why it (the expansion) has been cancelled." He said many in the county have kept quiet on this issue so as not to be too critical. But the time to be quiet has passed.

"We didn't initiate this fundraising," Fearry said Wednesday. "We did it on the basis of a commitment from the Ministry of Health."

When the project was first proposed, the ministry promised to pay two thirds of the total cost, with the community covering the rest. On the basis of that promise, the county and municipalities committed $266,400 and a fundraising campaign was launched to raise the other $233,100. There was a tremendous response to the fundraising campaign, surpassing the goal by more than $200,000.

Up until a few weeks ago, there was still hope that the ministry would fund this project. Fearry noted Wednesday that Ontario Treasurer Bob Nixon promised Warden Keith Talman just three months ago that the funding would be released.

The ministry, however, has since changed its approach to health care needs, focusing more on alternative measures than on additional hospital facilities.

The Minden Hospital will soon have a supply of various types of blood for emergency treatment. A $2,700 donation from the Minden Legion branch will help the hospital buy the special refrigeration unit necessary to maintain the blood at an exact temperature. Dr. Steven Dawson, who accepted the donation, said it is hard to predict when a transfusion will be needed. However, this will make it possible when the time comes. Legion President Sally Bonner (centre) presented the cheque to Dawson and Nurse Administrator Jean Anderson on Thursday. Legion Members Ken Walsh and Dave McAdam were also on hand for the presentation.

The Ministry of Education should no longer be allowed to turn its back on Haliburton County's requests for funding to expand the elementary school facilities in Minden and Haliburton.

Just one year ago, amid tremendous uproar, the school board leased a building in Minden to house the overflow from Archie Stouffer Elementary School. Now, both the school and the school annex are filled to capacity thanks to the continued rising enrolment.

Next September there simply won't be enough room for all the classes. And the year after that the lease on the school annex runs out, which will take a big chunk out of the amount of space the school has to offer.

The situation isn't a whole lot better in Haliburton. At J.D. Hodgson Elementary School, there are an additional 23 students this year. And at the aging Victoria Street School, the enrolment jumped by 51 students.

The enrolment pattern at the Minden school provides a clear picture of rapid growth in the student population. For years the number of Kindergarten classes here held steady at two. Five years ago that had to be upped to three classes. And this year there are four kindergarten classes.

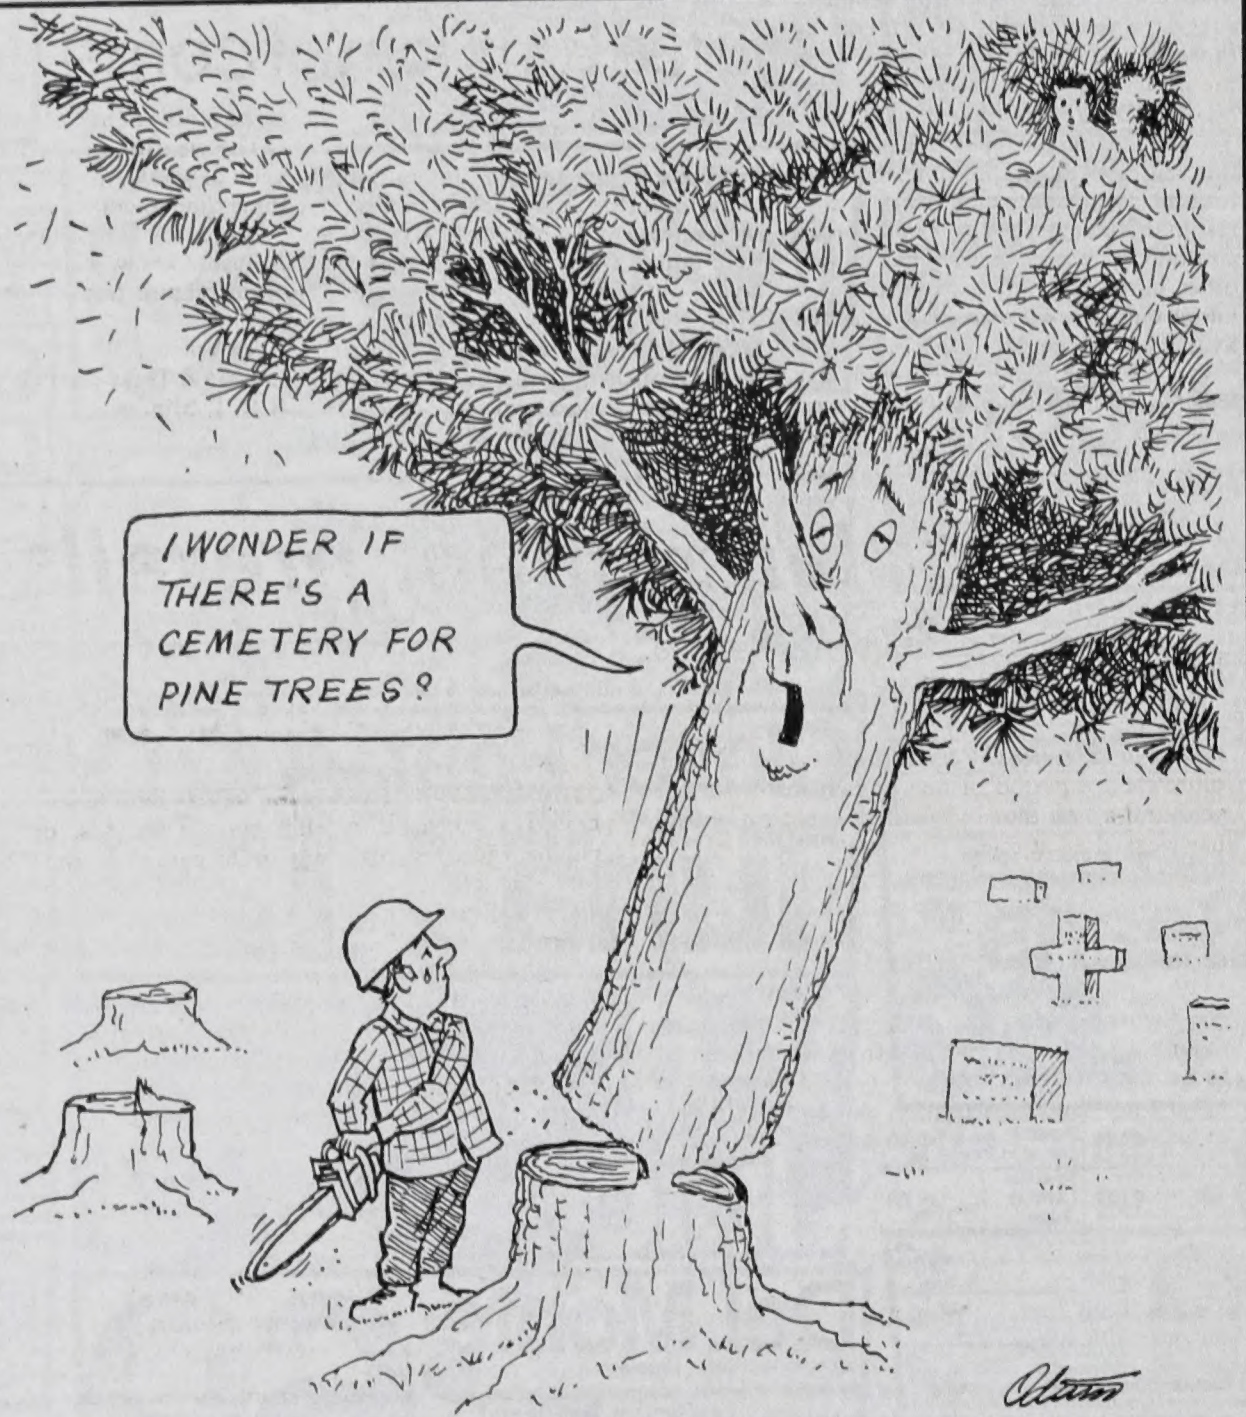

The pattern reflects the growth in the community; growth that isn't likely to taper off for several years; growth that will continue to crowd the school until an addition is finally built.

The school board has wisely decided not to throw good money at portable classrooms. Besides being a second-rate learning environment, the portables tend to have a very short life span. Portables, by design, are temporary buildings to meet temporary needs.

High enrolment at the schools here isn't a temporary thing. Instead, it is a side-effect of the steady growth in this underdeveloped area.

With the Archie Stouffer Elementary School annex slated to close in less than two years, we're running low on time. We deserve ministry funding for the addition and we need it this year.

Our patience with this ministry, and with the provincial government in general, is wearing thin.

Even overhyped Batman has its yawns

*Oh don't the days seem lank and long
When all goes right and nothing goes wrong
And isn't your life extremely flat
With nothing whatever to grumble at!*

Thus the song and dance duet of Gilbert and Sullivan made the case against boredom in an operetta called Princess Ida a century and five years ago. They were right, of course. Life would be exceeding tedious if it was perfect, smooth and featureless as a cue ball -- but that doesn't make bores or boredom any easier to stomach.

And it may be my imagination or just creeping senility, but it seems to me there are more boring things around than when I was a tadpole. The Royal Family is boring. All TV is boring. Most movies (and especially the overhyped ones like Batman) are boring.

black 'n white

by Arthur Black

And then of course there's politics.

You kids in the audience will have trouble believing this, but there was once such a concept as an exciting politician. They came in all stripes -- Tommy Douglas, John Diefenbaker, Stephen Lewis, Pierre Trudeau. Today? We're stuck with bloodless automatons like Joe Clark and Michael Wilson, while we listen to the dial tone drone of Mulroney and the staccato teletype delivery of John Turner. These guys transform the concept of an exciting politician into an oxymoron.

I could go on and on but that would just be, well, boring. Besides, I don't have to. Alan Caruba has already done it for me. Caruba is a 51 year old New Jersey bachelor who also happens to be founder and chief executive of The Boring Institute. The enterprise is dedicated to pinpointing, exposing and then harpooning the deadly features of modern life that Caruba says are turning us all into zombies.

Each year Caruba loads his elephant gun and goes hunting the not-nearly-elusive-enough elements of tedium around us. In March, he announces his Most Boring Films of The Year Awards. In September, his Institute gives the world its Fearless Forecasts of TV Flops and in December

Trees need protection

Editor:

Further to Mr. Jake Fowell's comments, in Minden Times September 18 regarding the beautiful pines at Twelve Mile Lake Cemetery. I would like to suggest a meeting be held, involving those who have loved ones laid to rest in the cemetery, to try to come to some other solution than the one taken.

I have taken such a strong stand on this senseless destruction, since I have four members of my own family laid to rest in this cemetery. This should prove a point that it is not only acid rain and other environmental matters that are killing our trees. They are being depleted by man's own hands.

It is hoped that any others who have loved ones buried amongst the pines, will take some initiative to put a stop to this decision.

Nell Miscio & family,
R.R. 2, Minden.

Trees must not come down

Editor:

We are aghast to read in your paper of the removal of the beautiful pine trees that make Twelve Mile Lake Cemetery so unique. Too many cemeteries are laying out to the burning hot sun and wind. Now we know they have had to take a few of the trees down in the past because of them dying but these mentioned trees are just being taken down to

Parking problems escalate

Editor:

I have been concerned for some time over the parking problems in downtown Minden. But, my main concern has been with the parking crisis at my own neighbourhood corner. We've lived south of Newcastle Street on St. Germaine Street for ten years. The intersection of these two streets can easily be seen from my kitchen window, and I have watched the parking problem there escalate over these ten years.

The County of Haliburton Offices, the Ontario Land Registry Office, Haliburton County Social Services and Mr. Don Finn's law office all share this intersection as their location of 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. business. Nearby is the Minden United Church which frequently has weekday functions such as teas after funerals, soup and sandwich lunches and the like. None of these facilities

Vehicular ailment prevails in this auto

If my car was a horse, I probably would have shot it months ago.

It seems that no matter how much money I spend on getting it repaired, something new breaks down before long. In fact, I don't think there has been more than a period of one or two weeks for the year-and-a-half that I've owned it that everything has worked all at once.

As soon as one problem is fixed, another appears. Sometimes it takes a couple of days, but eventually I know it will develop some vehicular ailment requiring immediate attention.

When I bought it, I was assured that it was in good working order and required very little maintenance. And for the first month or so that seemed to be the case. But in the last 18 months it has needed new brakes, new tires, new exhaust, a new battery, a new gas tank, work done on the carburetor, a new radiator, the block heater had to be removed because it was leaking engine coolant, a front-end alignment, and new headlight.

And the problems never appeared two at a time, but rather in an endless succession of trips to the garage. It has come to the point where I think my car must like being in the shop. Perhaps it enjoys

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

having a mechanic delving into its innards, or maybe it just regards a stay in the garage as some sort of holiday.

Once my car even managed to develop a leaky gas tank while sitting on the hoist in the garage to have its oil changed. I was waiting for the work to be completed, when the mechanic called me over to point out a large moist area on the bottom of the tank. He said it looked like there was a slight leak, but it shouldn't cause any problems as long as I kept an eye on it to make sure it didn't become a major problem.

He needn't have bothered even mentioning it. Less than a week later my car decided a small leak wasn't severe enough and started sending a steady trickle of fuel onto the ground.

Some problems you can ignore, a leaky gas tank isn't one of them. When I went to get in my car and noticed the pool of gas beneath the trunk, I started feeling a little like the captain of the Exxon Valdez.

It amazes me that a technologically advanced world that can put people on the moon and send a spacecraft across billions of miles of space to snap pictures of Neptune, can't produce a car that can last 10 years without my having to replace most of the vital components.

My car has been to Canadian Tire so often, it's now more Motomaster than Pontiac.

Some people give their cars names like Millie, Ethel or Betsy. When I bought mine I jokingly referred to it as Road Eater because of the number of miles I was putting on it. If my repair bills continue to rise, I'm seriously considering renaming it Road Kill.

Now that the gas tank has been replaced, my rear window defrost has quit working and with the mornings getting colder that will have to be repaired.

I should probably sell the car and buy a more dependable one, but I've almost paid off the bank loan I used to buy it and I can't help believing that one day I'll beat the odds and run out of things to replace and repair.

Of course I still believe the Ottawa Rough Riders have a shot at the Grey Cup too.

There's a danger boredom is spreading

it's the grand finale -- Most Boring Celebrities of the Year -- Hollywood hams, Wall Street Wannabes and Talk show couch lizards who have received what Caruba calls "massive media overexposure".

Oh yes, and the Boring Institute has set aside an entire month for those dog days of summer when nothing happens and everyone's too hot to care. July is officially Anti-Boredom Month on the Boring Institute calendar.

That's the thing about Caruba -- he doesn't just whine and sneer about boredom, he frets about it as well. "Boredom is epidemic" he says, and he's deeply concerned that it's having profound effects on young people whose lives, Caruba says, are being warped by boredom.

Caruba spends all his spare time on the lookout for celebrities who have overstayed their welcome. Past winners? Doctor Ruth Westheimer won the uncoveted Most Boring Celebrity Award a few years back. This year the dishonour went to the ubiquitous Bill Cosby. As for the movies, Eddie Murphy's sewer-mouthed celluloid efforts won him the Boring Institute's Most Boring Film Awards.

You don't have to be a tedious human to make it in Caruba's Hall of Infamy, he pillories inanimate objects too. Self-help books are in there. So is any on-the-spot news hankie-twister about the Exxon Valdez.

But there's one inanimate object that's conspicuously absent. It's a large, placid piece of real estate directly to the north of the Institute's

New Jersey headquarters.

Canada. How come Canada isn't mentioned? Heck, the British and American press never tire of telling us how bland and unexciting Canada is. Are we so boring that the Boring Institute hasn't noticed us? Nope. Caruba likes Canada. In fact he goes so far as to praise -- hold on to your ear muffs, folks -- Toronto. "An exciting city" he told me over the phone.

Oh dear. Alan Caruba has a blind spot. It's a wonderful selfless thing that Caruba's doing, but it's not worth squat if it lacks integrity.

I've got it.

I know just what to send Alan Caruba to make him see the unexciting truth about Toronto.

A pair of tickets to the next Leaf home game.

Maintain status quo, parks council urged

Maintain the status quo for Clyde and Bruton Townships was the main message delivered to the Algonquin Provincial Park Advisory Committee Wednesday during a public meeting regarding future plans for the park.

Hunting and fishing in Clyde, Bruton and Eyre Townships are important to the economy of Dysart Township, Reeve Murray Fearry said in his brief remarks to the council.

"To change now would be in error," Fearry said in front of a large gathering at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School. "The present use is the best use at this time."

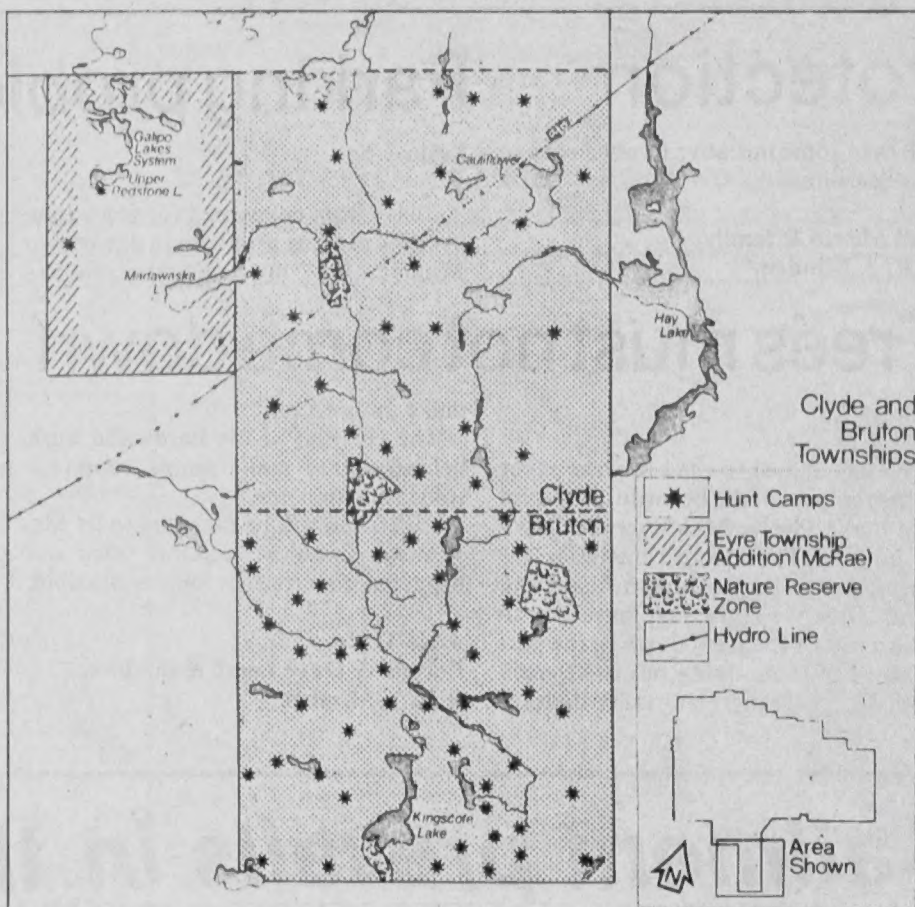

The Parks Council, which is a citizens' advisory body to the Minister of Natural Resources, is undertaking a review of the uses and policies of the park. This is the second review since the Algonquin Park Master Plan was implemented in 1974.

While the review is addressing many issues, the one most bearing on Haliburton County Residents is the question of the future status of Clyde and Bruton Townships and of the proposed "McRea Addition" in Eyre Township.

Clyde and Bruton, which are already included as part of the park, are also within the boundaries of the municipality of Dysart et al. The McRea addition, which occupies the northeast corner of Eyre Township, is slated to become part of the park this year.

The issue at question in this review is the permitted uses in this part of the park. The two townships were incorporated into the park in 1961 by a special act of the Ontario Legislature, which stated that the existing hunting and trapping activities were to be allowed to continue.

"Obviously, these two townships do not conform to the public perception of what Algonquin Park is all about and raises the question of how Clyde and Bruton should be managed in the future," it says in the introductory paper issued by the ministry.

The two suggested options are:

- Remove the two townships from the park and not add the McRea addition. Allow existing uses to continue and protect the five nature reserves.
- Maintain the status quo on the two townships and add the McRea addition, managing it in a manner similar to Clyde and Bruton (allow hunting to continue and phase out trapping over the next 21 years.)

- Keep Clyde and Bruton in the park, add the McRea lands, and phase out hunting and trapping.
- Add the McRea lands to the park but remove the parts of Clyde and Bruton Townships below the hydro line. Manage the McRea addition and the remainder of Clyde Township in the same manner as the rest of the park. (no hunting, trapping or snowmobiling).

The Dysart Reeve was just one of several people to make a presentation to the council Wednesday. Others included a municipal councillor, the owner of the Haliburton Forest and Wildlife Preserve, neighbouring property owners, representatives from hunt camps, a lodge owner, an outfitter and an area angler.

Most expressed an interest in allowing the current level of hunting, trapping and fishing to continue. However, others suggested that a limited-use roadway be opened through the park for lumber trucks.

Peter Schleitenbaum, who runs the Haliburton Forest and Wildlife Preserve, a 50,000-acre tract of land adjacent to the park, was the one who suggested the road opening. With the uncertainty of the future status of the Harcourt saw mill, he is looking to Whitney as the next closest place to transport the logs cut on his land.

The distance between his property and Whitney is about 20 miles as the crow flies, he said. However, because the park "folds like an umbrella over the Forests," Schleitenbaum said the trip around is about 80 miles.

Schleitenbaum said there is an existing roadway, the Ross Lake Road, that could accommodate his vehicles. He said the road would be used for the transport of timber only, to a maximum of five million board feet per year. It would be used during only the seasons when recreational use is low. He also noted that the land through which his trucks would be travelling is rated as low-intensity recreational.

Although he admitted this would be setting a precedent, Schleitenbaum said the Forest, which is the largest privately-owned parcel of land in the province, is unique. It shares a 10-mile common boundary with the park.

If allowed to use the road, Schleitenbaum said Haliburton would benefit from the employment, while Whitney would benefit from the timber supply.

Dan Bewell, who was representing the Haliburton Forest Owners Association, echoed Schleitenbaum's request to use the road. He said landowners in his association control 140,000 acres of land adjacent to the park. "We endorse the Forest's request and would like to also use the road," he said.

The predominant message to the council, though, came from hunters who want hunting privileges in Clyde, Bruton and Eyre Townships preserved.

Gord Ferguson, representing the Picadilly Hunt Club presented the board with a written submission as well as a petition bearing more than 1,000 signatures. This club, which is located in the middle of the proposed McRea addition, wants the McRea lands to remain as is, and not become a part of the park.

According to the submission, Haliburton County would lose whatever economic benefits it derives from the hunters who use these lands each year if it was to become a part of Algonquin.

"All economic effect for the Haliburton area will cease as soon as acquisition takes place," the submission reads. Ferguson said this would be the result because hunters would no longer be able to gain access to the lands from the south. Instead, they would have to enter the area through the park gates to get permits. The nearest park gate is 65 miles from Haliburton Village, he said.

"Judging by the user petition, which contained over 1,000 signatures, many of these multiple-occasion visitors and the existence of many more hunters during deer and moose season . . . we would suggest that local businesses benefit greatly from the public use of this area," the Hunt Club submission states.

Ferguson also questioned the logic behind such a take-over. The reason stated in 1974 for the addition was to accommodate increasing use of the park. However, Ferguson said park use has dropped since that time, invalidating this logic.

Since it is difficult to gain access to this property and no canoe routes exist, Ferguson wondered aloud what use the park has for the property. "If you're going to take a step, it's to get across the room," he said. "We assume since no reason has been put forth by the park presently, that none exists."

The Hunt Club also took exception to the suggestion that hunting hunting and trapping be phased out in Clyde and Bruton Townships. Hunting and trapping are privileges that were guaranteed by provincial legislation in 1961. The submission also states that hunting in the area hasn't hampered the health of the animal population.

"We feel that this issue shows 'politics at its worst' and this question even being brought up is an affront not only to the local users and population, but the animals as well," the club's submission reads.

Ferguson said that a ban on hunting is akin to "a declaration of a state of war between the MNR and hunting sportsmen." He said "hunting is a fundamental part of being a Canadian."

A representative from the South Central Big Game Association agreed that hunting should be allowed to continue. He said limited hunting promotes a healthy environment for the wildlife. He went a step further by suggesting there are other areas of this park, and other provincial parks, where hunting should be permitted.

About 100 people turned out to the public meeting Wednesday to hear the proposals for Algonquin Provincial Park.

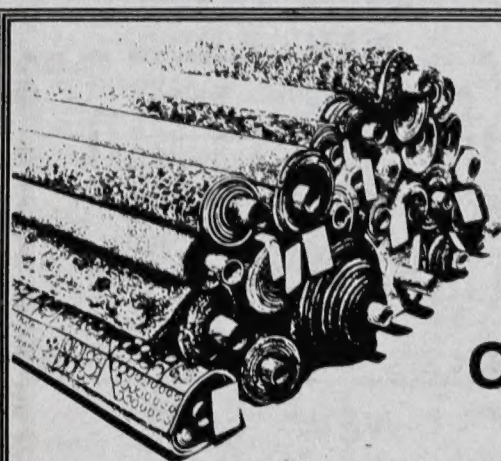

Haliburton resident Joe Iles commented on access to fishing spots in the proposed McRea addition. He said that back in 1983 and 1984, 88,000 brook trout were stocked in lakes in Haliburton County. He said 21,000 of those were stocked in lakes in the McRea lands. More have since been stocked in those lakes, but he said he doesn't know how many.

"If they're putting that many fish in the lakes, they must expect a lot of people to go fishing," Iles said. "To close it up doesn't make a lot of sense."

Dysart et al councillor Glen Hodgson made the final presentation to the committee. He said that in his grandfather's day, there were canoe routes in the area. "They were there and now they're not," he said. "Every member of the MNR should hang his head in shame," for allowing this to happen.

Hodgson also suggested that there should be a gate to the park on the south side. Currently, the only park gates are on the west and east sides on Highway 60.

Wednesday's meeting was the third of six such public hearings. The following day a meeting was held in Pembroke and on October 3 and 4 meetings will be held in Ottawa and Toronto. Once all the public input has been collected the council will prepare a written report for the ministry.

Dump is good for another 50 years

A draft report on the Scotch Line Landfill site shows that Minden is in an enviable position for future landfill needs.

While many municipalities in Ontario are struggling to find room for all their garbage, Anson, Hindon and Minden may be able to get another 50 years of use out of the Scotch Line site.

Roads Superintendent Clayton Cameron received a draft report of the study being undertaken by the consulting firm of Gartner and Lee. This preliminary report describes how the municipality can get another 50 years of use out of the 20-acre site.

Only a small part of the area designated for landfill is presently being used. Cameron says this present area has an expected life of another 16 years. The study maps out where on the grounds landfilling should take place once the present area is filled up.

The draft report will be presented for approval from council and the Ministry of Environment, after which a final report will be drawn up. Cameron said that process could take about three or four months.

Senior kickers overpower Falcons in opener

With a tremendous show of scoring power by Jan Haedicke, the HHSS senior soccer team overpowered Fenelon Falls in the season opener on September 13 in Fenelon Falls.

Haedicke scored three of the Redmen's goals, paving the way to a 4-2 win over the Falcons. Cecil Smith added the fourth Haliburton goal.

The senior Redmen are bound to be a force in the high school league this season, says Coach Walter Tose. Several members of the team played together all summer on a competitive team in a district mens' league. That extra experience could prove to be a factor as they return to high school play.

Tose has to be pleased with the way the team came together in this season opener. "They came out smoking in the first half," he said. They surprised the Falcons early in the game, scoring two goals within 10 minutes.

Although he sees room for improvement, Tose is optimistic the senior Redmen will soon be coming together as one of the top teams. "This team is already as good or better than they were at the end of the season last year," he said.

Inconsistency is the only shortcoming Tose could find with his team in the game with Fenelon. "They were a little bit hot and cold," he said. "We have to work on keeping control of the game."

The Redmen did have control for about 60 to 70 per cent of the game with the Falcons, and that was enough for the win. However, Tose wants to see his team controlling the play throughout the game.

Goalie David Kinsella helped keep the Redmen in the lead when the offence turned cold. Tose said he came up with a real big save late in the game that took the wind out of the Falcons' come-back hopes.

Other strong performances in the opener came from Half Back Darryl Winder and Full Back Roland Greber. Greber played a steady game throughout, said Tose, while Winder was outstanding in his position.

The junior Redmen didn't have as much success in their opener with Fenelon, but they did put in a strong performance in the 2-1 loss.

David Carr scored the lone goal for Haliburton in this game. Special mention goes to Darren Parsons, a newcomer to the HHSS squad, who dazzled the Falcons with his ball control.

Parsons picked up his soccer talents on the fields in London, England, where he lived before moving here. Both Redmen teams were to play this past Wednesday in Lindsay against I.E. Weldon. Their first home games will be this Wednesday at 2 p.m. against LCVI.

More information on our bazaar and tea will be available next month. Watch for our ads.

For those having a bit of a time remembering all our dates for various functions and sports, a calendar will be posted on the L.A. board just inside the front door of the Legion.

The L.A. ladies will be selling tickets on an 'elephant rocker' which has been graciously donated by Mr. Allan Thompson. The tickets will be one dollar each, with the draw to be held during the kids Christmas party, Sunday, December 10.

A heartfelt thanks to all those who donated baked goods, and their time and effort to help make our summer bake sales a success. The baked goodies will reappear during our Christmas bazaar.

The campaign to raise funds for a new bus for Hyland Crest is gradually nearing its goal thanks to organizations like the Minden Lions, which presented the Home with a cheque for $7,000 last week. The Lions raised these funds through their Bus Fund Draw. Presenting the cheque to acting administrator Gary McKnight is project chairman George Moulton. Also shown here are public relations chairman Allan Thompson, first vice president Maurice Boyd and past president Lee Oster.

Seatbelts prevent injuries when car rolls on its roof

The value of taking time to do up a seat belt, and those of passengers, was vividly demonstrated Friday morning. Wanda Hodgson of Minden and her baby were travelling into Minden on the Deep Bay Road. As the vehicle rounded the curve before the stop at the Bobcaygeon Road, a front tire suddenly blew. The car swerved to the right hand side of the road, entered the ditch and overturned. The force of the impact shattered the windshield and flattened the car's roof. Moments after the car came to rest, Wanda and her young child emerged from the vehicle, shaken, but not seriously hurt. The driver and the police credit the use of seat belts, and a car seat for the child, for preventing what might have been a tragic incident. While a passerby holds the youngster at the side of the road, Wanda removes her belongings from the battered car.

Club 35 misses deadline, campaign continues

Club 35 in Stanhope Township has run into a snag in its application for Ministry of Tourism funding for an expansion, but directors have decided to push ahead with plans.

The incorporation of the club could not be completed in time to meet the September deadline to qualify for the 50 per cent ministry funding for this year. However, the directors have decided to continue with their fundraising campaign and re-apply for the grant in 1990.

The directors met on September 18 to discuss what action should be taken, considering the delay in incorporating the Stanhope Township club. The club's solicitor advised that incorporation should be completed within one month and this will make it eligible for a grant application in September 1990.

Club 35, located on Highway 35 across from Halls Lake, began a fundraising campaign in June of this year. The response so far has been tremendous. Close to $20,000 has already been raised.

After careful consideration, it was the decision of the directors to carry on fundraising and apply for a grant through the ministry in September 1990.

Redmen senior Brent Flood, number 44 just misses an interception and tips the ball out of the reach of the opposition's reach during a game Friday afternoon at HHSS. The seniors defeated LCVI of Lindsay 9-8. This is the first time in four years the Redmen seniors have defeated Lindsay. The Redmen scored points on a single from Jeff Fierro at the kick-off, and touchdown from Craig Bain. Coach Gary Brohman also singled out the play of Darren Danylshen, Sean Perrin and Mark Robinson as major contributors to the senior victory.

The juniors were not as successful. They went down to a 22-6 defeat at the hands of the visitors. Jay Hughes scored the team's only touch down on a spectacular 70 yard run. Jerry Cooper turned in a great game for the juniors, playing on both offensive and defensive squads.

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down forward, backward and diagonally.

They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Please don't call it retirement

It seems that Ken Brown's friend, Alan, is ready to take the plunge into retirement in the Highlands. However, his wife still needs a bit of gentle persuasion.

Ken Brown, who has already made the "mid-life career change" has some handy advice for all of us who are contemplating the move.

Dear Alan:

I gather from your last letter that you are getting jittery about setting your retirement date. Small wonder! Just as you are on the front edge of training your replacement, a squad of efficiency experts on one of their periodic purges arrive on the scene from corporate headquarters in the United States. Tension must really be high among all of the Toronto staff with this invasion of hired guns, armed with their MBAs and Gucci briefcases. Even that attractive young lady in the typing pool will turn up for work promptly, at least for a short while.

There is really little reason for you to be intimidated, Alan. Everyone knows that over the years you have covered up for that miserable Ontario manager, while he nipped on the grape with his secretary at their favourite bar on Richmond Street. Besides, you were soothing irate clients before these corporate types had training wheels removed from their bicycles. You may be over reacting slightly, because no one understands office politics any better, and your analysis of this latest corporate sham is probably accurate.

The visiting experts will cut back on inventory to increase cash flow: redesign the incentive plan for the sales department: hold seminars on management by objectives and fire the stockroom boy for misusing the postage meter machine. Forget them. They will fly back to Boston basking in the glow of a job well done while planning their next divisional shakeup.

I am much more concerned, Alan, with your wife's resistance to your retirement plans. Surely, she is in favour of your getting out of the rat-race and taking a well-deserved break from fighting traffic and coping with stress after more than 30 years on the job.

Does she not want to leave city life?

Does she not want to sell your old home even at an enormous profit?

Is she afraid that your pension income will not provide enough to live well?

Is she against moving your home to the tranquility of Haliburton County?

Or is it all of the foregoing, plus other problems?

Frankly, I am surprised you haven't figured out by now that the word 'retirement' strikes fear in the heart of every red-blooded wife. Charming and lovable as you are, the thought of having to spend every waking moment with you, through breakfast, lunch and dinner seven days a week for the rest of her life is enough to give anyone second thoughts. You may feel that joining the WOOPies of Haliburton (Well Off Older Persons) is a just reward for 30 years of work. But for your wife it is a radical wrench from an orderly, pleasant life among old friends, to exile in an isolated community. Indeed, it is the ultimate invasion of one's space.

Just imagine her thoughts about an endless procession of antique shops and garage sales with you in tow, balanced only by looking out the cottage window to see you, day after day, trimming the hedge or building a stone walk to the water front. Gone are those delightful lunches with her friends at Barbarians; ended are those pleasant Saturday mornings browsing the stalls at St. Lawrence Market and savouring the parmesan cheese next door at Pasquale's. What will she ever do with that Ellesse tennis outfit you bought her in Italy?

Alan, I hate to lecture, but you must stop using, once and for all, the word 'retirement' with all that it conjures in your wife's mind, and get with the new buzz words; mid-life career change! It is a phrase that means the same thing as retirement, but is not nearly as threatening to your wife. Perhaps, it will stir you to take a different approach to the critical question of a shift from

Sears tours 'County Town' one last time

Jeanne Sears has written her last column for the Minden Times.

The woman, who has become an institution in local newspapers, has decided to call it quits and put her weekly column about goings-on in the Minden are to bed for the final time.

Jeanne admits she'll miss the contact the column provided for her, allowing her to call, or be called, by a wide variety of individuals each week. However, she notes that most of the people who call her have become her friends and so she'll still have lots of people to talk to.

Jeanne's column, Around The County Town, is not untypical of columns in community newspapers across the country. Blending a healthy dose of social comings and goings with recipes, house-keeping tips, humour, coming events, poetry and generally news of a lighter variety, the column provided an intimate glimpse at the community and the people who live here. There are some readers who say it is the first thing they read each week when they get their copy of The Times. Others claim it's the only thing worth reading in the newspaper. Whatever their point of view, there were few readers who didn't, from time to time, spend a few minutes with Jeanne Sears as she toured the County Town each week.

Jeanne is a native of Woodville, was raised in Stouffville. She came to Minden after graduating from Toronto Normal School (teacher's college) in 1940. She was posted to the Dugan school in the Lochlin area where she taught up to five grades ranging from elementary students to grade nine. The log house provided for the teacher was cold and drafty, the work load of preparing lessons for 11 students at different grade levels, proved to be too great a burden. After a year of teaching Jeanne decided her place in life was anywhere but standing in front of a class.

After leaving teaching, Jeanne moved to Minden where she met and married her late husband Milt Sears, in 1941. She worked at a number of jobs and was kept busy raising a family of five.

During this time her interest in the local library began. Jeanne served on the library board for a number years, including a term as chairman. In 1966 she accepted the post of "acting librarian" with the Minden library and began an association which would last for 17 years. "I loved the library," Jeanne commented, "This is where my real interest was....looking back I wish now I had studied to be a librarian." The designation of "acting librarian" indicated she did not have a degree, although there is little doubt she knew as much about the local facility than anyone else in the community.

Sitting in her favourite chair, Times columnist Jeanne Sears relaxes after finisher her final edition of Around the County Town.

Jeanne also served the community in a number of other areas. She was a president and avid backer of the local Home and School Association and since 1948 has been an active member of the Minden Women's Institute. She has served as president of the local branch on a number of occasions and currently holds that post. In recognition of her many years of service to the Institute, she has been honoured with a life membership at both the branch and district levels of the organization.

For 40 years, Jeanne, Milt and their family lived in the home across from the former IGA store. Just last year, several years following the death of her husband, she moved to the new senior citizens apartments, Staunworth Terrace, next to the Community Centre.

Jeanne, who has no qualms about telling you her age....she's 70...wrote for a number of newspapers serving this area. In addition to being the correspondents for The Progress, the Minden newspaper which preceded the Times, the Haliburton Echo, the Lindsay Post and the Watchman Warder out of Lindsay, often sharing the same news with all publications. She has been covering the community for The Progress and The Times since 1968, with a two year break some five years ago.

In that time, she has enjoyed writing about the community, "It's fun to do," she commented. She relied heavily on contact people who would call each week or so with information, as well as the many individuals who provided social notes of their own to help flesh out each column. "People were very kind. They liked to call and give me the news." Jeanne found her position provided her an opportunity to meet many people in town and to expand her circle of friends, including a large number of summer residents, many of whom are her most avid readers.

In writing a column like this each week, it is inevitable that a few errors would slip by. The one that Jeanne recalls most vividly is the time she announced to the community that a certain citizen had passed away. She was surprised and embarrassed to hear from the "deceased" shortly after the newspaper hit the streets, advising her that in fact he had not been taken from us. Needless to say, the gaffe was followed by profuse apologies and a lot of good natured kidding.

With her column writing days over, Jeanne is looking forward to not being tied down to the weekly schedule the deadline imposes on her life. Her interests include travel, card parties, bingo, and the Women's Institute, a group for which she will continue to file the monthly meeting reports to The Times. In addition to these activities she has 13 grandchildren and one great-grandchild to occupy her spare time.

Jeanne says she will miss the column each week, and, speaking for the readers and staff of The Times, we're going to miss her.. Good luck Jeanne!

If there is anyone out there who would be interested in filling Jean's shoes as a columnist for The Times, contact this newspaper.

New agency at cutting edge of travel service

The opening of the Intra Town and Country Travel office in Minden will bring state of the art travel agency service to the community, according to owner Anne Larcade. Anne, who also operates an office in Haliburton, says the fact the office here is connected to the Sabre travel industry computer system will put the agency at the cutting edge of travel services in the community.

Town and Country Travel services are not new to Minden. A branch office of the agency, under the direction of Alan Coneybeare, has operated for a number of years, sharing space on the Main Street with Coneybeare's Butcher Shop. While this unique combination of meat and tickets proved to be interesting, to say the least, Alan Coneybeare decided to close the retail portion of the butcher shop, sell the business to his son Chris, and convert the front portion of the retail space to a formal travel agency. (There is still a door connecting the two businesses, so if you want your steaks to really go, it can be arranged.)

It was this new travel agency which opening Wednesday last week. Friends, family, business associates and neighbours crowded the new office to congratulate the operators and get a close hand look at the latest brochures featuring winter destinations.

One of the highlights of the office's opening was the introduction of the Sabre travel service system. Through the installation of a computer terminal in the office, the agency has access to hundreds of airlines, hotels, car rental agencies, tour package operators and just about anything related to the travel industry.

Operated by American Airlines out of Dallas, Texas, the computer system connects this office to offices around the world. The computer can tell you the weather in Rome, whether there are tickets available for a theatre show in London, and print out your flight ticket and boarding pass.

While this sort of 'routine' activity will be of great assistance to the staff at the agency, the Sabre system offers a number of interesting extra capabilities, which Anne finds particularly exciting. "The system can tell us what visas you'll require to travel to a certain country," she commented. "And this information is updated daily."

The bargain hunter will appreciate some of the extra features of the system. Seat sell-offs will appear on the Sabre screen as soon as they are announced. The system also has the ability to search out the cheapest price for a particular journey, offering options and suggesting alternatives. Individuals searching for a vacation that includes parasailing, for example, or the sport of fencing, can, through the agency representative, query the system and see what is available. And, after all the information is gathered, the system can even print out a map of where the traveller is heading.

"This system will allow us to tailor a more exact travel program for our clients," Anne said. "What we had to rely on memory for before, we will now have, literally, at our finger tips."

Intra Town and Country is part of a group of 180 travel agencies across Canada. The initials stand for Independent Travel Retail Association. By forming themselves into a buyer group, the Intra agencies, all of which are independently owned, have access to reduced rates, special discounts and in some cases special service. The association also guarantees travel arrangements made through any of its associates agencies. If a travel provider goes bankrupt, the Intra agencies will guarantee compensation within ten days. Other benefits are available through special Intra packages.

The Minden office of Town and Country Travel will be staffed by Alan Coneybeare and Cathy Phillips, while the Haliburton office includes Cheryl Crawford, Heather Smith and Ann Larcade.

Before the celebration of the new opening had ended, we asked Anne what will be hot in the way of winter destination vacations this winter. While cruises still are attracting a great deal of interest, she said a new resort area in Mexico, the nine bays of Huatulco appear to be the new spot to go this coming season. The attraction...untouched and undeveloped by hordes of tourists, clean, safe beaches, friendly people and the nearby Mayan ruins. As well she said Costa Rica, "the Switzerland of Central America," is still a popular destination. The country is clean, friendly, and, perhaps most importantly, inexpensive.

Alan (Cub) Coneybeare and his wife Mary, right, were joined by many area residents Wednesday as they marked the opening of the Intra Town and Country Travel Service office in Minden. The agency is located in the former butcher shop storefront on the community's Main Street. The travel service is the second full-time office for Town and Country, owned by Anne Larcade. She has operated an office in Haliburton for several years. Alan is also not new to the business, having provided the service in conjunction with his butcher shop for a number of years. His son Chris continues the meat business.

Enrolment outgrowing facilities in Minden

The overall number of students at the Minden school is 602. Enrolment at J.D. Hodgson Elementary School in Haliburton has jumped to 429 students, while Victoria Street School is up to 237.

Although the percentage increase in enrolment is high here, Baker says the numbers probably aren't enough to convince the ministry of the need for more classroom space. The percentage increase is higher than in many parts of the province, but the actual number of new students isn't as high as in the large school boards.

The increase in enrolment at most other school boards will likely be around six or seven per cent. However, because of their size, that translates into a lot more students than Haliburton County has to deal with. That's what impresses the ministry.

Board Chairman Wendy Ladurantaye says it's not fair for the ministry to look only at numbers. The percentage enrolment increase here is higher than in most parts of the province and that's what the ministry should be looking at, she said.

At Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden, they've had to add a fourth kindergarten class this year because of the increasing enrolment. Fortunately, there is room at the school for this class since kindergarten students only attend half time.

A year from now, though, these students move into Grade 1 and attend school full time, which will push the space needs over the limit.

Because of overcrowding at the school last year and the ministry's refusal to help finance an addition, the board entered into a three-year rental agreement to convert the former IGA store into a school. This extra space got them through last year and it will be sufficient again this year. However, if there is more than two kindergarten classes at the school again next year, there won't be enough room to house all the classes.

For many years there were only two kindergarten classes at Archie Stouffer Elementary School. Growth in the community boosted that to three classes five years ago and this year it's climbed to four classes.

"We can manage for another year and then it gets critical again," said Ladurantaye. "We're being forced to make decisions that we don't have the financing for." She says the board is in a quandary about what to do.

The board also has to wrestle with the fact that after this school year there is

Because of the high assessment from seasonal residents, the ministry views Haliburton County as a wealthy area. Unfortunately, the ministry's formula just doesn't work for Haliburton County, says Ladurantaye.

"We're a little bit different here. We don't fit the formula." Many cottagers, who are already upset about double taxation for education, would be outraged if the board increased its levy. At the same time, Ladurantaye says the average family income for county residents is under $20,000, which makes it difficult for them to accept another tax hike.

Ladurantaye met two weeks ago with local MPP John Eakins and says she's confident "he'll be going to bat for us." The fact that Eakins is no longer a Cabinet Minister is seen as a bonus because he will now have more time to commit to his constituency.

The school board will also be pressing the ministry to take a closer look at the situation here. A committee was formed before the summer break to lobby the government for the funding for expansions in Minden and Haliburton. Ladurantaye said the committee's work will begin as soon as all the enrolment figures are finalized. "It's just getting off the ground," she said. "We have to get all the facts and figures before we can present our case."

In the mean time the board will be looking at all the alternatives. Ladurantaye says it may be possible to build a school without provincial funding, but it wouldn't be up to the same construction standards as ministry-funded schools.

According to her figures—which she admits are probably outdated—it would cost about $100 per square foot to build an addition that would meet Ministry of Education standards. On the other hand, the board could choose to go ahead without ministry funds and build the addition at about half the cost.

Since the ministry would only cover about half the cost of an addition, the impact on local taxpayers is the same in either case. The difference is the type of building. With ministry funding, it would be built to a higher standard, said Ladurantaye.

In either case, Ladurantaye says the board is committed to building an addition rather than adding portable classrooms. She says the board is opposed to portables because they don't hold up well and aren't good for the children. She says the air quality is poor and the buildings just don't last.

Redmen soccer teams battle to ties with Weldon

Both the Junior and Senior HHSS Soccer teams battled to ties last Wednesday when they met up with I.E. Weldon in Lindsay.

For the Seniors it was a scoreless tie, while the Juniors made it 2-2 on goals from Kevin Buchanan and David Carr.

Walter Tose, who coaches the senior team, said he was impressed with the way his team controlled the play. He said the first half was fairly even, but the Redmen came on in the second half to dominate. The ball only came into the Redmen's end three or four times in all of the second half, he said.

In spite of the strong play, they failed to put one in the net. They hit the post a few times and a couple went off the crossbar, but that was as close as they came to scoring.

David Kinsella put in another solid game in the Redmen net with the help of some strong defensive play from Full Back Roland Greber. Cecil Smith also had a good game, narrowly missing on a few scoring opportunities.

Jan Haedicke, it seems, has earned a reputation for his goal-scoring abilities. The Weldon club had him shadowed to make sure he didn't have any room to work.

The Junior team had better success in this game than in their season opener. They almost won it with a penalty kick late in the game that was disallowed by the referee.

Bruce Milne played well for the Juniors in net while strong performances on the field came from Jason Donaldson and Darren Parsons.

While personalized licence plates are becoming increasingly common in Ontario, the one on Minden resident Stuart Brandon's van might leave a few people puzzled as to what message he is trying to convey. The initials, I.S.D.R.A. stand for International Sled Dog Racing Association, the organization which provides official sanctioning for the Minden Sled Dog Derby. Stuart serves as a director on the organization's board of governors. While the stylized plates may leave the casual observer confused, it is certain the members of the sled dog racing fraternity would recognize the significance of the initials instantly.

working every day for a living to having a private income without a daily schedule.

In other words, forget that 'cold turkey' stuff, although I still like your plan for an extended trip through Italy and Spain when you finish up with the Company. I like your idea of buying a waterfront building site in Haliburton, provided that you line up some consulting or casual work before you leave for Europe. A couple, or three days a week of non-pressure work in the city, with unlimited long weekends at the cottage would make an ideal bridge to a life of leisure. Besides, your wife could, on a gradual basis, get used to being called a senior and, in turn, you will be able to paddle your canoe around a quiet lake on Sunday evening.

I know you would love to become active in local county politics, and with your experience at kissing babies and fund raising you would be a great success up here in cottage country.

Think positively, old buddy. Take your wife to see Phantom of the Opera and at a cosy dinner at the Old Mill launch your new campaign about a mid-life career change. Perception and transition is the name of the retirement game. No one said it would be easy. Keep me posted.

Getting shot at isn't any fun

Editor:

As residents of Boshkung Lake for the past five years, my family and I have each spring looked forward to the arrival of local waterfowl.

Our anchored raft is well known on the lake as a resting spot for these ducks and their offspring and as summer wears on our beach becomes a favourite feeding ground for the maturing ducklings.

We as a family with two small children feel honoured that these ducks find our home a welcome area to raise their young. This is a wonderful learning experience for our children and one that we will not discourage.

Now with fall arriving, it is with sadness that we realize the duck population will soon be flying south.

Before these ducks leave us, however, we will be faced with another group interaction with these ducks. As many residents of Haliburton County realize September 20 through December 20 is duck season.

Although my husband and I do not participate in this sport, neither do we object to it. What we do object to is that for the next several weeks we will be forced to endure a barrage of gunfire each evening. We are now prisoners in our own home, for fear of our own safety should we venture into our backyard (which is adjacent to a favourite hunting location).

This becomes a very unpleasant experience for my family and one that we have been unable to resolve. Although the Ministry of Natural Resources, Township of Stanhope, Ontario Provincial Police and the Ministry of Transportation have been contacted, the hunting continues again this year.

I have written this letter in hope that many of the hunters who frequent the bridge and boat launch areas at Little Boshkung Lake will realize that the practice of shooting firearms on highway property, and across the waterway is, for my family, neighbours and those travelling Highway 118, not only disruptive but a very, very dangerous situation.

Gidget P. Lougheed,
Boshkung Lake.

Hard to take Coneybeare's comments seriously

Editor:

One of the enjoyable requisites of holidaying in the Minden area is buying The Times each week. If I thought that the Editor and Management could assure me that the letters to the Editor would continue to be as fascinating as they have been in August, I could easily be convinced that I should become a yearly mail subscriber.

I don't recall seeing the letter from Diana Fleming on the balloon lady cartoon but Linda Coneybeare tried so hard to portray the illustrious cartoon as being sexist and anti-feminist that it is difficult to take her comments seriously. But the letter from Bonnie Jull was something else. If all she saw in the cartoon was the moronic look of the female attendant, she missed the whole point (excuse me, points) of the cartoon.

I am just sorry that Ann Lee felt that she had to apologize for submitting the cartoon. It is unfortunate that such a humorous and harmless cartoon has become such a subject of contention and correspondence.

Jim Chapman,
St. Catharines.

Camps are not to blame

Editor:

In response to the letter from Florence Robinson, I am disturbed to read that the blame for the hordes of boys who ruin the quietness and scenery of Rotary Park is being laid at the doorstep of camps.

None of us ... cottagers, visitors, nor campers should have our day ruined by loud, noisy groups of people. We come to Haliburton to free ourselves of the hectic, busy city. We enjoy the sounds of water, loons, birds and breezes. We do dislike boisterous yelling, blaring radios, and most recently those extremely annoying jet-skis.

But in defence of the summer camps in the Haliburton area, the majority of Camp Directors are constantly cautioning their staff and campers to be concerned about and aware of the desires of everyone else to be able to enjoy our county in the peaceful manner which they deserve. In fact, I dare say that camps ... because they are so concerned ... are better behaved than many individuals who gather in groups ... otherwise there's 'hell' to pay if the camp administration hears of their campers or staff acting in an inconsiderate rude manner.

However, the Robinson comments will certainly be passed on to staff and campers of Kilcoo, and although the summer for our camp is now over, next year this concern will certainly be addressed.

David Latimer,
Director.

Too many developers on council

Editor:

The scenario in your recent editorial on Mindenites taking over Toronto city council (Turning the tables) was quite witty.

How about one where our local council and municipal employees are made up of land developers?

G.G. Robinson,
Blairhampton.

Improvements needed to parking on St. Germaine provides any significant amount of customer or public parking. Other than roadside parking, the only alternative is to park one's car in the Municipal Parking Lot on Pritchard Street and hoof it the rest of the way up the steep grade of St. Germaine St. This is a poor option for many of Minden's largely seniors society.

Our family has long wondered what steps might eventually be taken to alleviate this problem. Visibility at the corner of Saint Germaine and Newcastle Streets diminishes with each year as the parking problem grows. This has resulted in numerous accidents over the years. We who live in the area, often find it necessary to advance into the intersection inch by inch, hoping that no one is sailing through on Newcastle at a good clip, hidden from view by the trucks, vans, campers and Purolator Courier vehicles which are parked as near to the corner as one can imagine. Occasionally, I've contacted the O.P.P. regarding blatant offenders.

When I was at the Anson, Hindon and Minden Council Meeting of August 24, 1989, I saw that a resolution regarding parking at the Registry Office was a part of the night's agenda. Was this going to be the first step toward relieving this problem? Apparently not. Council resolved to designate the only three parking spaces immediately east of the Land Registry Office, which are on the municipal road allowance of St. Germaine St., to be reserved for the Registry Office employees only. I must say that I was greatly disappointed in the decision. A provision was being made for employees, but not for the public users of this facility, be they disabled or not.

One would think that if the parking spaces are at such a premium that it poses a problem for the staff to park their vehicles we would have the good sense to persuade employees to park in the Municipal Parking Lot and leave free the limited space for the public who come and go all day. Forcing the public out to the roadside doesn't help to solve a thing.

It is interesting to note that, on the same night as this decision, our council was also considering a resolution which would increase traffic on St. Germaine St., immediately south of this intersection, by 550 per cent.

If this project goes ahead as well, we should have a fabulous time negotiating the intersection in the days ahead.

Mary Anne Wilson,
Minden, Ont.

Find alternative to cutting

Editor:

Almost daily we hear on the news about the devastation of our environment. The Amazon rain forest is being cut at a rate of one acre per second for short-term agricultural development. Unfortunately, after approximately 20 years, the land becomes barren susceptible to erosion and soil sterility. We are capable of destroying important eco-systems nature has taken billions of years to create in a few decades or less.

We can choose to ignore such disturbing signs or we can examine our every impact to see if we can make a difference. Native people have said we should examine the impact of our actions seven generations into the future before making a decision with regard to our stewardship of the land.

Mindful of these thoughts, I felt the need to walk through the Twelve Mile Lake cemetery after reading the article regarding the cutting of the 15 Pine trees (Mon., Sept. 18 edition of The Times). My three-year-old son and I were delighted to meet an elderly gentleman who knew the area well and was enjoying the peacefulness. The sheer beauty of the setting was enhanced by a perfect Sept. day. The lake was sparkling and the air was warm and clear. As we walked through the graveyard, I was awestruck by the size of some of the pines. Walking under them, I felt I was truly in a great cathedral. We have named a park just that, Cathedral Park in B.C., which protects the last remaining stand of the giant rainforest that used to cover Vancouver Island.

It came to me that the cemetery could be enlarged and the 15 marked trees could be left if the plots in the area of the trees were designated for cremation remains only; an increasingly popular choice of funeral. We could all feel good about preserving this small beautiful setting. I have phoned the Minden Cemetery Board members with the idea and have asked the secretary to allow a formal presentation to be made at a board meeting prior to the proposed cutting. I am waiting to hear of this date. If anyone can offer any other ideas on how we could protect these trees or support the above one, please call me at 754-3617 or leave a message at 286-1940 and I will return your call.

A tree

Editor:

Please dedicate this poem by Joyce Kilmer to George Johnson, caretaker of 12 Mile Lake cemetery.

'Trees'

I think that I shall never see
A poem lovely as a tree
A tree whose hungry mouth is pressed
Against the earth's sweet flowery breast
Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree.

Carnarvon.

Minden Lioness Club holds first meeting

by Lorna Hicks

Minden Lioness held their first meeting September 12 at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery in Minden.

At present there are 15 members and if you would be interested in finding out more about our group or attending a meeting, please contact our President Ena Marion at 286-1914 or myself at 286-1658.

Even with no meetings during the summer we were busy. We would like to thank everyone in the community for their support. This year our district president is Lioness Janet Readman from our club and her project for the year will be Hospital for Sick Children Trach and Neurosurgery Ward to which we will be contributing funds.

During the summer we helped the Lions Club sell tickets for the Hyland Crest Bus Fund and made a cash donation as well. Several of our Lioness and their husbands have been showing movies at Hyland Crest on Monday nights and we also held the Birthday Tea in August.

Our two fundraisers for Minden Hospital were quite successful with Bedpan Blitz raising $675 for equipment and $460 from raffle for the Hospital Building Fund. Winners were: quilt - Elizabeth Beattie; afghan - Al Duffy, and Doorstop/switch cover - I. Stackfis.

for your service

We participated in the Legion Flea Market and served an auction lunch to raise money as well.

Someone attended the Fun Day at Lake Joseph CNIB and recent donations were made to Five Counties Children Centre and Sunnybrook as a memorial donation.

Many of our Lionesses shall be attending the District Meeting in Omeme, October 12. Lionesses will be submitting designs for new district pin at this dinner meeting.

You will be hearing more soon about upcoming fundraisers and projects. Anyone who has been saving labels please have them in by November 1 to Leon's Video or call me.

Sound management pays off with jobs, says Scott

by Bill Scott, M.P.

Sound economic management has resulted in jobs, an improved fiscal situation and an improved investment climate over the last five years.

A total of 1,482,000 jobs have been created since September 1984. 86 per cent of those jobs are full-time. A total of 849,000 jobs have been created for women. This represents 57 per cent of the total jobs created. Half the jobs created for women between 1984 and 1988 were of a managerial or professional nature. The unemployment rate has fallen from 11.6 per cent in September 1984 to 7.5 per cent in July 1989. The youth rate has fallen from 18.2 per cent to 11.2 per cent. Between 1984 and 1988, in terms of percentage growth, jobs were created at a faster rate in Canada than in any other major OECD nation. More students had a summer job in July 1989 than in any previous July on record.

Manufacturing shipments have climbed by 28 per cent since September 1984.

Retail sales have increased by 48 per cent since September 1984. The Canadian economy has expanded by 20 per cent in real terms since September 1984. Our rate of economic growth between 1984 and 1988 was one of the best in the industrialized world.

Inflows of direct foreign investment doubled between 1984 and 1988. 223,000 homes were built last year, compared to only 135,000 in 1984. Investment in new machinery and equipment has increased by 95 per cent in real terms (after inflation) since September 1984. Capital spending by Canadian businesses is expected to climb by 14 per cent in 1989, including a 28 per cent increase in the manufacturing sector.

Research and development spending by Canadian industry has climbed by 55 per cent or $1.7 billion since 1984. The annual number of small business births has climbed by 35 per cent since 1984.

The number of Canadians living below the poverty line has fallen by 549,000, including 179,000 fewer children and 61,000 fewer senior citizens and 198,000 fewer adult women. After-tax personal disposable income has climbed by $1600 per Canadian in real terms since September 1984.

The annual deficit has fallen from a record $38.3 billion in fiscal 1984-85 to $28.9 billion last year. By 1993, the deficit will be cut to $15 billion. In dollar terms, the deficit has been cut by one-fourth. In relation to the economy, it has been cut in half. By 1993, it will have been cut by 75 per cent relative to

Gross Domestic Product (GDP). Over the five-year period between 1988 and 1993, spending will rise by only 3.9 per cent per year.

The growth rate of the public debt has been cut from 24 per cent in 1984 to less than 10 per cent last year, the first time in 15 years that the debt has grown by less than 10 per cent. Compared to the economy, total spending has fallen from 24.6 per cent of GDP in 1984 to 22.2 per cent this year. It will fall further to 20 per cent by 1993.

Legion does a bit of well-deserved gloating

Pardon us if we brag a little at this time, but what better place can your Legion do this but in its column, especially immediately after Legion Week.

If you were one of the community who responded to our published invitation to visit our facility during Legion Week (September 18 to September 23) you may have observed a detailed list of our donations posted on the wall to one side of the door inside the main lounge. You would have seen that we have given substantially to many worthwhile community projects such as a blood bank refrigerator worth $2,700.00 to the Minden Hospital, Hyland Crest Bus Fund $2,000.00 and $65.00 to their cookbook advertising, Community Sports and Recreation programmes $875.00 and the list goes on for a total of $9,560.00.

When this Branch started in April 1987 (someone said 40 years too late) this newspaper printed an article telling about the beginning. It was suggested that with patience and understanding for this new Legion from the Community, it could become an asset to Minden and districts. Since then, Branch 636 has acquired a Legion Charter and a beautiful Legion Hall and paid off a second mortgage. We have hosted a dignified and honourable Remembrance Ceremony attended by our Comrades from other Zone Legion Branches. We have participated in County Fairs, Carnivals and Parades and in Drumhead Services and Remembrance Ceremonies in other Communities.

for your service

by Dave McAdam, Legion Branch 636

Virtually all of our attempts at fund raising have proved successful. Recently the present Zone Commander Comrade Ken Bell stated that Branch 636 is one of the most aggressive branches in his Zone. We could write about our many accomplishments since our inception but space is limited. Needless to say, we now believe we have reached the point where this Branch is an asset to the community we served as predicted by The Times. For this we must say thank you to Haliburton County, its citizens, its councils and our supporters and comrades. You have been patient and have assisted us to move forward.

Many of you will be pleased to learn that Comrade Lyn Winans is researching the possibility of our publishing a Branch News Quarterly. This would certainly be an asset to us, however she will need co-operation of the members with help and written submissions and possibly funding. Lyn and myself recently attended a Legion Seminar on Public Relations. Hopefully we are a little more knowledgeable in matters such as publishing columns and newsletters.

Comrades Sally, Gareth, Bruce and Ken also attended seminars on Membership, Youth Education, Poppy Campaigns and Sports at Lindsay Branch 67.

We all enjoyed the learning experience. We missed having Membership Chairman Frank Dunsford with us. Get well soon Frank and let's have you back among us.

On Property, Comrade Gareth Kellett is working on a few improvements. We shortly hope to have some reshingling done to the worn out sections of our roof, construction of a walk-in refrigerator for the bar and construction of a disabled persons ramp and washroom facilities.

Poppy Chairman Bruce Porter is preparing for another campaign in November. If there are any groups or organizations, etc. who wish to purchase a wreath for the Remembrance Ceremony, please call Bruce at the Legion 286-4541 or home 286-3052. If anyone has a suggestion for Silver Cross mothers or daughters would you please advise us. We will be pleased to approach that person to determine if she might wish to participate at the Remembrance Ceremony. Comrade Bruce is also seeking members who will assist in the Poppy Campaign.

We did well in our 1988 and 1989 Early Bird efforts. Let us continue this for 1990 and pay our dues as soon as possible. We are again anticipating commendations for the greatest percentage of membership increase for the year. To all our new members "Welcome". Let's get involved and move our Branch forward.

Pianist entertains at Home

Wednesday evening Kathy Owens was here. She played many pieces of music the piano for us. She also played the accordion. Kathy and her sister Eleanor sang several hymns. It was an enjoyable evening. Thank you both very much. Earl Cooper had another engagement and was unable to come. Thursday afternoon the ladies from Kinmount United Church served us a lovely lunch in the Auditorium, there was no entertainment after. Thursday evening we had the first bingo caller for the winter from the Kinsmen Club, Nick Fomenko called. He informed us bingo would be a little different this winter. They will keep track of the attendance and who got bingos, at the end of the season a prize will be given for the best attendance and a small trophy to the one with the most bingos, with the largest one for the antique case. We thank Nick for calling Thursday and the club for their interest. We do appreciate it. I am sorry I missed thanking George Smith who played the violin for the happy hour with Bill Payne. I'm sure everyone who attended appreciated their music immensely and are looking forward to them coming again. Friday was, happy hour again and the entertainment was provided by Carmen Peters, Lloyd Madill, Doris & Nadene Campbell singing. Saturday Bob Mitchell attended the wedding of his great grandson Danny Schlosser to Kelly Clendenning September 16, 1989 in Minden. Rick Barnum, my grandson from Sharbot Lake, came to see me and took me out for a Sunday evening. Rev. Burgess held Chapel Service. Monday Gladys Kirkpatrick had Hugh's brother's wife Thelma - nee (Stevens) her husband and Thelma's father Bert Stevens from Hamilton to visit her. Monday night Ena Marion and her husband showed three movies for us, one was "Ponies of Miklaenot," second "Footnotes to Genesis," third, "Don Gibson's Nature Adventures." The movies were very interesting and we thank them very much, but we do wish more would come to see them. Tuesday morning Chapel Service was held by Rev. Ed Moll of the United Church. It was also a communion service. Congratulations to birthday people this week, Garnet Ash - September 14, 1989 Annie Jones - September 15, and Ann Collison - September 20, 1989. The residents with them a happy birthday and many more. Pearl Lyle had her granddaughter Debbie Dart and two children to see her Tuesday morning. May Horsely has gone to one of her daughters for the day. Lillian James had an eye operation last week in Peterborough. It seems to have been a success. Visitors to see Ada Turrall were September 14, Norma Moulton brought a cousin of Norma's from South Wales to see her. Sunday, September 15, her grandson and his wife, Allan and Donna and three children, Drew and Erin. Also, Edna and George Moulton came and took Ada out for lunch Wednesday. Doris and Linda took a group of residents to shop in Huntsville, each resident had a volunteer with them to aid them with their shopping. The volunteers were Jean Hewitt, Ellen Halden, Mrs. Schlosser, Alice Jones, Pearl Cowen, Vera Smith, Fred & Bess Parker. Thank you all very much, we appreciate your assistance and hope you all enjoyed the trip and the beautiful day. Pastor Murray held a service in the lounge Wednesday evening. Pearl Lyle's daughter Anna came Wednesday evening to see her. Anna has been to the east coast for a holiday and to visit some of her family. This week there were three ladies here who were Kellett's girls to see Lola Prentice. Lola taught them when she was teaching.

Minden WI holds its 20th meeting

The September 20th meeting of Minden Women's institute was held at the Common Room with Mrs. Sears in charge. She welcomed all as well as three guests. The Roll Call about Australia answered by 12 members. Mrs. V. Graham from the Health Unit gave a short talk on the benefits of having the flu shot, especially for seniors.

Mrs. Elliot from Australia was the speaker introduced by Mrs. D. Cox giving details of that continent, the trees, the animals, agriculture, temperature and sports. Then a slide presentation went on with very interesting and lovely scenery. She also showed us native tools and a kangaroo hide. Mrs. D. Cox thanked her and made the presentation of a small gift.

Report of 38 cards sent since June was given by convenor Irene Moore and collections for Card Fund and Pennies for Friendship were taken. Correspondence was read by pro tem secretary Jean Lacey which included District newsletter and thankyou note from Hyland Crest for our donation to the Bus Fund.

A resolution regarding Lord's prayer in our school was accepted for our delegate Mrs. Sears who is going to Royal York, October 24 and 25. The meeting adjourned and refreshments and fellowship followed, and Bertha Hughes won the jar of jam. Next meeting is at Common Room, Wednesday, October 18 and 2 p.m. will all ladies welcome.

Kinmount Legion has open house

To celebrate Legion Week at Branch 441 in Kinmount and open house was held on Tuesday, which turned out to be a fun day with bingo, euchre and cribbage during the day.

A delicious lunch put on by the ladies auxiliary and in the evening there was a darts tournament with a very good turnout.

Olive Morgan and Leslie Robertson were the top winners in the Euchre. Most lone hands were won by Carl and Colleen Burns. The 'skunk award' went to Gladys Silvers and Verna Crego.

In Cribbage, Earl Hartin and Sandra Robinson were the top winners.

Don Spiers and Glen Robinson won the darts tournament and runners up were Fred Knight and Art Owens.

Legion President Al Jopling extends thanks to everyone who made this a great day.

Wicks' book details wartime Britain

by Joel Levis

In the early hours of September 1, 1939, German troops made their way across the border and into Poland. At the same time, thousands of children were crawling out of their beds in Britain, rubbing their eyes and not knowing that it would be quite a while before they would be able to crawl back into them. Within days, they would learn that a "state of war" existed between Germany and Great Britain from new homes with new parents and new lives.

In No Time to Wave Good-bye, Ben Wicks interviews many of these people and learns what it was like to be ripped away from the familiar and sent off to a new home where they would be spared the heavy bombing that was feared.

For many of the people who participated, it was as if they were telling their story for the first time, even though they had long known that they were part of the greatest movement of residents from the UK in history.

In their travels about the world, their past never left them.

Learn about real people and real history.

This and many other titles are available at or through your local branch of the Haliburton County Public Library.

Trent-Severn Report

The stored water continued its end-of-season decline in the Haliburton area lakes of the Trent-Severn Waterway. The six days to September 11 saw a drop of only 2 per cent to 48.2 per cent, however, which was a slow-down typical of the time of year. Near minimum flows are being maintained from these lakes since evaporation losses on the Kawarthas are nearly being equalled by the rains in recent weeks.

The Kawarthas have generally stayed a few centimeters above their late summer levels due to the cooler, wetter conditions. Otonabee River flows are still near summer minimum yet, because a wetter than normal trend is not really established. September flows in the river generally average 40 cubic metres per second compared to recent 1989 values of about 18 cubic metres per second.

CARD OF THANKS

To Brian and Bob,
Thanks for all your help and patience over the summer.
from the girls at C.H.A.C.E.
Daycare.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of a dear son and brother Jeffrey Buist (FRYER) who's life was taken in a motorcycle accident September 29, 1987.

It is hard when our loved ones have reached their day.
When they say good-bye to all;
But harder by far when they pass away
With no good-bye at all.
Could we have been there at the hour of death
To catch the last sigh of his parting breath,
His last faint whisper we might have heard,
And breathed in his ear one loving word.

Lovingly remembered by Dad, Mom, John, and Jamie.
